READING

PART 1: Read the text and do the tasks below.

The edge of the world

Where is St Kilda?

St Kilda isn't an easy place to get to. It's in the Atlantic Ocean about 65 km west of the Outer Hebrides islands, which are to the north-west of Scotland. It takes 14 hours to get there from Scotland by boat. A few people visit the tiny islands of St Kilda every year, but not many.

St Kilda around 1800

St Kilda has never been populous. About two hundred years ago, the population of St Kilda was about 200. They had their own way of life. They climbed up the cliffs and caught sea birds for food. They had meetings in the village streets and made their own laws. They didn't have much contact with people from other places.

Leaving St Kilda

But life was hard for the people of St Kilda, and many decided to leave the islands and travel to the USA or Australia to look for work. They wanted to earn money and have a better life. By 1930, there were only 36 inhabitants left. They decided that they wanted to leave too, and on 29 August, a boat arrived and took them to Scotland. They never returned.

St Kilda today

Today, there aren't any permanent inhabitants of St Kilda on the islands. However, the islands are not empty. Scientists live and work there, studying the sea birds and other wildlife. There are also a few soldiers. There isn't much entertainment, but at least there is now a sauna and a bar!

A. Find words in the text which mean: (5pts)

- 1 high areas of rock with very steep sides, often at the edge of the sea or ocean.....
- 2 people who live in a particular place
- 3 crowded with a lot of people
- 4 lasting for a long time or for all time in the future; existing all the time
- 5 animals, birds, insects, etc. that live in a natural environment
